Craig Lyon is a good offensive player who uses his hockey sense and positional play to make up for his size. In the offensive zone Craig drives hard to the net looking for opportunities and applies good pressure on the opposing team. Craig has above average speed and uses it well in one on one situations. Craig may not be a defensive specialist however he does get regular penalty kill time, to go along with power play time. On the power play Craig works well on the half boards, moving the puck well to set up scoring opportunities. An area that Craig could work at is that sometimes he takes shots from bad positions. Taking the extra time to get into a better position would improve his point production. He could also work on being hard on the loose puck more consistently.
