League: AMBHL
Date: November 25, 2009
Teams: Calgary Bisons – 1
At: Calgary Royals Gold – 4

Synopsis: Both the Bisons and Royals came out hard in the first period looking to take the upper hand. The period was a good face paced back and forth affair. Spencer Kryczka and Mitch Collett score two minutes apart halfway through the frame to give the Royals a 2-0 lead. John Edwardh scored on a nice feed from Morgan Klimchuk to get the Bisons to within one.

The rest of the night was pretty much all Royals, outshooting the Bisons in the last two periods 33-15. Matt Gelinias and Taylor Allan added goals for the Royals in the second and third periods respectively to secure the 4-1 victory. The loss was just the second of the season for the Bisons.

Top Performers: Calgary Bisons

1 Coleman Vollrath (G) – Although Coleman gave up four goals, he keep his team in the game until the buzzer sounded. Not a big goalie, but Coleman has quick reflexes and side to side movement. Coleman played a good positional game and combined with his reflexes made some big saves.

Calgary Royals Gold

12 Taylor Allan (F) – Taylor led the Royals with a goal, an assist and intensity. Taylor didn't let up while on the ice, getting into the tough areas to gain puck possession. Taylor also did his part defensively, getting back to help out in his own zone or covering the pinching defenceman. Overall a very good game for Taylor.
